Q: Describe how to write a eulogy article of 800 words using ChatGPT.

A: Writing an 800-word eulogy article using ChatGPT is easiest when you treat the AI as a writing assistant that helps you organize memories, tone, and structure. Below is a clear step-by-step method you can follow. 📝

1. Gather the Key Information First

Before asking ChatGPT to write anything, collect the important details about the person.

Include things like:

- Full name
- Birth and death dates
- Relationship to you
- Major life achievements
- Personal traits (kindness, humor, generosity)
- Important life events
- Memorable stories or anecdotes
- Impact on family or community

Example notes you might prepare:

- John Smith (1950–2024)
- Loving father and teacher
- Loved gardening and helping neighbors
- Known for humor and storytelling
- Volunteered at local shelters

The better your notes, the more meaningful the eulogy will be. ❤️

2. Ask ChatGPT for a Structure

Start by prompting ChatGPT to create a clear outline for an 800-word eulogy.

Example prompt:

Create an outline for an 800-word eulogy article honoring a loved one.

Include an introduction, life story, personal memories, achievements, character traits, and a heartfelt conclusion.

Typical structure ChatGPT will suggest:

1. Introduction (80–120 words)
2. Early life and background (120–150 words)
3. Personal qualities and character (120–150 words)
4. Achievements and contributions (120–150 words)
5. Personal stories or memories (150–180 words)
6. Legacy and impact (100–120 words)
7. Closing tribute (80–100 words)

This structure helps the article reach around 800 words naturally.

3. Provide Personal Details

Next, give ChatGPT the information you collected and ask it to turn them into a draft.

Example prompt:

Write an 800-word eulogy article about John Smith.

He was a high school teacher, a loving father of three, and known for his kindness and humor. Include a warm, respectful tone and mention his love for gardening and community volunteering.

ChatGPT will generate a complete first draft.

4. Adjust the Tone

Eulogies should sound sincere, respectful, and comforting.

If needed, refine the tone with prompts like:

- “Make the eulogy more emotional and heartfelt.”
- “Add a touching closing paragraph.”
- “Make the language simpler and more personal.”

You can also request:

Rewrite this eulogy so it sounds more like it was written by a family member speaking at a memorial service.

5. Add Personal Memories

A eulogy becomes powerful when it includes specific memories.

You can ask ChatGPT to integrate them:

Example:

Add a short story about how he helped neighbors fix their gardens every spring and always made people laugh.

Stories make the tribute authentic and memorable. 🌸

6. Expand or Reduce to Reach 800 Words

If the article is too short or long, ChatGPT can adjust it.

Example prompts:

- “Expand this eulogy to about 800 words.”
- “Condense this to 800 words while keeping the key ideas.”

AI can quickly balance the length while maintaining the message.

7. Edit and Personalize

Even though ChatGPT helps write the draft, you should always review it.

Look for opportunities to:

- Add personal names
- Include family members
- Insert favorite quotes
- Adjust wording to match your voice

This step ensures the eulogy feels genuine and personal.

8. Request a Final Polished Version

After editing, ask ChatGPT to polish the article.

Example prompt:

Proofread and polish this 800-word eulogy article.

Improve flow, grammar, and emotional tone while keeping it respectful and sincere.

This produces a clean, well-written final version.

✅ Summary of the Process

1. Collect personal information
 2. Ask ChatGPT for an outline
 3. Provide details and generate a draft
 4. Adjust tone and style
 5. Add personal memories
 6. Ensure the article is about 800 words
 7. Edit and personalize
 8. Request a final polished version

Start by asking ChatGPT to create a structure for the eulogy.

Why this works:

- It organizes the article logically
 - Helps you reach the target word count
 - Makes writing easier step by step

2. Prompt to Write the First Draft

Once you have details about the person, use a prompt like this.

Prompt example

Write an 800-word eulogy article about [Name], who passed away at age [X].

Include their background, personality, family relationships, achievements, and the impact they had on others. Use a respectful, heartfelt tone suitable for a memorial service.

You can add personal details such as:

This makes the eulogy feel authentic. ❤️

3. Prompt to Add Personal Stories

Stories make a eulogy memorable and emotional.

Prompt example

Add a short, touching story to this eulogy about how [Name] always helped others and made people laugh.

Make the story warm and meaningful.

This helps turn a generic eulogy into a personal tribute.

4. Prompt to Improve Emotional Tone

Sometimes a draft sounds too formal. You can refine the tone.

Prompt example

Rewrite this eulogy so it sounds more heartfelt and emotional, as if spoken by a close family member at a funeral service.

Keep it respectful and comforting.

This makes the writing feel more human and sincere.

5. Prompt to Adjust Length to 800 Words

If your draft is too short or too long:

Prompt example

Expand this eulogy to approximately 800 words while maintaining a heartfelt tone and meaningful storytelling.

Or:

Condense this eulogy to about 800 words while keeping the key memories and emotional impact.

6. Prompt for a Powerful Closing Paragraph

The ending of a eulogy is extremely important.

Prompt example

Write a powerful closing paragraph for this eulogy that honors the person's legacy and offers comfort to family and friends.

A good ending usually focuses on:

- gratitude
 - remembrance
 - lasting influence

7. Prompt to Personalize the Speech Version

If the eulogy will be spoken at a memorial service:

This improves flow and readability when spoken.

8. Prompt for Final Editing

Always finish with proofreading.

Prompt example

Correct grammar, improve flow, and ensure the tone remains respectful, heartfelt, and comforting.

✓ Pro Tip:

The best results come when your prompt includes:

- the person's name
- relationship to you
- important life events
- personal traits
- memories or stories

Example of a very effective prompt:

Write an 800-word heartfelt eulogy for my grandfather, Robert Lee, who was a retired firefighter, a loving grandfather of five, and known for his humor, generosity, and love of fishing. Include a touching story and a hopeful closing.

Tips for Best Results ★

1. Add emotional details

Words like kindness, resilience, laughter, and love improve the tone.

Specific moments make the tribute more powerful.

3. Ask for revisions if needed

Examples:

- “Make the eulogy more emotional.”

✅ Quick summary:

The one-prompt formula works because it tells ChatGPT:
