Andrew Ryan Houghton
September 26, 1978 - August 9, 2004

Describing who Andy was as an Army Officer, West Point Graduate, Person, Man, and Friend is an extremely difficult thing to do! No matter what we say about him, it still seems inadequate to anyone that had the honor and privilege of knowing him. Andy was one of those rare people that was able to talk to anyone no matter how young or old, no matter how simple or sophisticated, and made them feel good about themselves. He was a man of vision, character and principle.

Andy was a soldier. He was serving his country in Operation Iraqi Freedom when he sustained injuries while on patrol July 10th, 2004, near Samarra Iraq. Andy was hit by RPG rocket near the left eye and forehead, which required several surgeries before he could leave Baghdad and be transported to Landstuhl, Germany, and then on to Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington, DC, for further treatment. He survived his injuries for about three weeks before passing on August 9th, 2004. Andy fought a brave fight, served his nation with honor, and gave the ultimate sacrifice on behalf of his nation and freedom for all.

A Foundation has been set up with proceeds from Andy's insurance to honor this soldier's memory and his great sacrifice. Many individuals and corporations have already donated to the Foundation. This Memorial Golf Tournament will help support the Foundation and it's charitable and tax deductible gifts in Andy's memory -- things like support for Taping for the Blind, sending kids to summer camp, and an emergency travel fund for West Point cadets. We hope the people of Houston will honor Andy's memory and help support this worthwhile Foundation by involving themselves in this golf tournament.
